What do you need to know about university in the UK? Here are some facts:

UK Universities

Need-to-know jargon

'UCAS points' or 'UCAS tariff' are points allocated to different post-16 qualifications. UK universities might use it when making offers to applicants, eg 'You have to get 120 points'. 'SW' means 'Sandwich year', when you spend time working in industry as part of your degree. 'FT' means 'Full time'. 'BA' means 'Bachelor of Arts', a degree in a humanities subject. These definitions should get you started - we give a fuller set of definitions in the 'Help' section for this search tool.

World class

In the QS world university rankings, four UK universities feature in the top 10, while a further 24 rank in the top 200. Generally the UK is considered second only to the US in terms of the number of top universities.

Earning potential

In the UK jobseekers without a degree earn up to £12,000 a year less than their graduate peers entering the job market, the equivalent of more than £500,000 over an average working life.

Sweet deal

British students studying at UK universities can get government loans to cover fees and living costs; the loans don't have to be paid back until after they are earning at least £25,000 a year, and even then the loans are paid back only gradually. EU students are (for the moment) entitled to the same treatment. Students from elsewhere in the world pay more to study at UK universities.

Apply for a course

Students apply directly for specific degree programmes, eg 'History at Birmingham University'. This is unusual compared to other university systems, where students often only decide what they will major in in their second or third year of study.

Hierarchy

In the UK some universities are widely perceived as more prestigious than others, and have higher entry requirements. Unifrog gives you all the data you need to assess how prestigious universities are perceived to be - but our advice is to take this into consideration along with other factors, such as how your chosen subject area is taught.

One application

You can apply to a maximum of 5 degree programmes per year, all via one form. Although it takes some effort to make your application as strong as possible, the process is straightforward compared to most other university systems.

Unofficial overview

"Founded in 1832, England's third oldest university, the university is located in a beautiful city. The university has a strong academic reputation and a proud collegiate system, resulting in excellent pastoral support. Despite two-thirds of students coming from private schools, the university is very welcoming to students of all backgrounds. Each college has its own character and traditions, which have a big impact on individual experiences of the university. Durham is also a very sporty university, and with students competing well in sports such as rugby and rowing. If sport is not your thing, and you're a fan of all things Wizardry, Durham is the first university to offer a course on Harry Potter!"

 History - 3FT BA (Hons)

 Newman University, Birmingham

 Safe - TEF Silver

History at Newman concentrates not only on what happened, but why these things happened and how we know they did. This approach explores the factors influencing historical events and gives a greater understanding of how society has developed the way it has. A rich and varied course, History at Newman will take you on a voyage of discovery which will span the origins of humankind to the burning issues of the globalised present.
