

San Isidro

By Jasmin Busson

San Isidro

San Isidro is a festival that is celebrated on 15th May. People in Madrid make a pilgrimage to San Isidro's meadow to celebrate his day. They have to drink the holy water of his fountain in his hermitage's patio. The location of it is Madrid. You can do lots of different activities and have lots of fun.

The Festival

Here are some pictures of what the San Isidro festival looks like.

What you can eat at San Isidro

There are lots of different foods that you can try at San Isidro. People mainly eat doughnuts on this day. They also eat Paella which is a traditional food in Spain.

Activities

Here are some of the activities that you can do at San Isidro for all ages to keep you excited and entertained.

Dancing

Watching fireworks

Concerts

Watch plays

San Isidro

This is what the dancers would wear at The San Isidro. It is a dress with bows, a white scarf around your head and a fake red flower above you hair.

Some people like to dress up a little and dance, but others just like to watch and wear their normal clothes.

Drinks

Afterwards, people like going to restaurants and have drinks like alcohol and other drinks like water and sodas.

Vocabulary

Food : Comida

Concert : Concierto

Dancing : Bailar

Play : Jugar

Drink : Beber

Fireworks : fuegos artificiales

Festival : Festival

My opinion

I think that the San Isidro is a great festival as you can have lots of fun with all the different activities for all ages and the amazing food to try.