

Easyjet and RyanAir fly directly to Bordeaux for UK Eurostar train Airports but I recommend taking the train because it is more relaxing and you get to see the French countryside. You should take the Eurostar from London to Paris then take another train to Bordeaux. It is a high speed train with two floors and free wifi and the seats have tables so you can work

Eurostar to Paris

this is the two floored train

Where to stay?

Hôtel restaurant Campanile Bordeaux gare Saint Jean is £65 a day at has a restaurant under it so you can go out for dinner

It is located in near the river garonne and close to the city center, and near the saint jean train station

The rooms are standard not luxury but good quality and a good price so you can spend more money on your family of where you wanna go

What to eat?

There are loads of places to go eat but one in particular i wanna go see is Restaurant Les cancrees it is a 5 star restaurant with a variety of food and mainly pizza (because it is a pizza restaurant)

And also serves burgers

What fun activities to do in bordeaux?

1. I have already done this but it was really fun climbing a sand mountain

2. Go to a wine museum
3. Go to the beach
4. Go out for the day and explore
