Designing a ball game!

You need at least 3 players. You all stand roughly an equal distance apart. The ball would need to be a tennis ball. To play you must throw the ball to anyone you like but you can't talk all you can do is make 1 contact. Everyone has 3 lives, if you lose your first life you must only catch the ball with one hand. If you lose your second life you can only stand on one leg and only catch with one hand, and if you lose your last life you are out. You can lose lives by talking, not catching the ball, if on your second life then by catching with two hands and if on your third life then by butting your leg down.
